1.1.1 The Institution ensures effective curriculum planning and delivery through a well-planned and documented process including an Academic calendar and the conduct of continuous internal Assessment

The institute is affiliated to the Jawaharlal Nehru Technological University Hyderabad (JNTUH). The institute has state-of-the-art infrastructure and well - a structured documented system for effective curriculum delivery. The institute has constituted the Programme Assessment Committee and Internal Quality Assurance Cell for monitoring curriculum planning and delivery. These committees devise measures to strengthen ICT-enabled teaching processes and research acumen which include mapping of course and programme outcomes with the syllabus, monitoring and tracking the academic progress of students by assigned mentors, identification of advanced learners and providing them a platform to hone their skills, identification of slow learners and organizing remedial classes. The institute follows the academic calendar of the University. However, we plan an in-house academic calendar to include co-curricular and extra-curricular activities for the holistic development of students and faculty. Conduct soft and communication skill sessions conducted by certified trainers; encourage students to organize and participate in awareness programmes to address societal, health and environmental issues. The institute has well defined and structured feedback system. The feedback obtained from stakeholders and institutional advisory committees is critically reviewed and measures are taken to bridge the gap between academia and industry. These include by organization of industry expert lectures, entrepreneurship development, quality improvement and faculty development programmes, and value-added short-term certificate courses, to enhance employability and professional skills. These initiatives help us develop competent, socially sensitive and skilled pharmacy professionals in line with the institute's vision and mission.
